

— HELP US BUILD A —
BRIGHT FUTURE

In 2014, when Building All Children began, my vision was to BUILD a program that would benefit all children regardless of income or ability, by Assessing, Resourcing and Empowering them to reach their full developmental and learning potential. I knew that Tulsa needed a program that would help BUILD children and their families! As our program continues to grow each year our circle of support and encouragement has grown abundantly, and we are excited to see how the Lord continues BUILDING our program throughout the Tulsa Metro area.

As you may know, we are moving into a brand-new Development Center, created by Asbury United Methodist Church. We couldn't be more excited about the growth and development of children and families we expect to serve within its walls. We will soon increase our impact by increasing our physical space and we need your help to fulfill our vision.

I am so proud of our team and the work we have accomplished. As we draw near to our moving date, we are increasingly aware of our need for the community's support through prayer, wisdom, and financial partnerships. We would be honored to have you join and support us as we approach a new phase of building, both physically and developmentally.

We are always better building together, and we look forward to connecting with you as we continue to BUILD all children and families!

Gratefully,

Who Is Building All Children? And Why Should You Help?

Building All Children (BAC) helps kids of all ages reach their full potential by ensuring those with developmental delays or obstacles to learning get the help they need. Regardless of the child's level of disability. Regardless of the family's financial situation.

That's a worthwhile cause ... one that has made a real difference.

"If it weren't for BAC, we'd have never found the wonderful therapists and resources we needed to answer our questions and set us on the path to success."

"I cannot express enough gratitude for the gift of confidence I gained as a parent and am speechless towards the growth my son is achieving! Thank you from the bottom of my heart!"

"BAC" is a gift and their ability to reach children and nurture their strengths has propelled our son to new heights!"

"BAC gave us a key to unlock who our son is and showed us how to help him and love him. It is because of that that our little boy is happier, more grounded than ever before and our home is balanced and joyful."

Building A Foundation For Success.

We ASSESS development, RESOURCE tools, and EMPOWER families with professional specialists, ongoing support, and specific tools they need to help their child.

Assess: Through in-depth social, emotional, physical, cognitive and academic assessments, we identify where each child falls in terms of developmental milestones. We then develop a customized program based on that child's unique learning style.

Resource: We connect families with appropriate resources such as speech pathologists, occupational therapists, physical therapists, counselors, physicians, academic placement advisors, tutors, recourse materials, classes, workshops, support groups and more.

Empower: Throughout the process, we give parents the knowledge and support they need to help their child complete their plan successfully.

OUR PROGRAMS.

We not only connect parents with community resources, we offer caring support through our own programs. Here's a sampling:

Building Readers: This vital program serves children between the ages of 4 and 12 who are struggling with reading skills, comprehension strategies, dyslexia and/or dysgraphia. A reading teacher implements the program through one-on-one, one-hour sessions, twice a week, for up to six months.

Play Group: At least twice a month, we meet for play activities which involve sensory play, fine motor skills, gross motor skills, social interaction, color identification, numbers, and letters. It's a great support opportunity for parents as well.

Building Families: We believe in the power of the family, and we work hard to not only build the child's development, but we spend much time coaching, guiding, and supporting the family. We help them learn the importance of becoming their child's advocate and we coach them through everyday life situations. We know the value in building the family and how this process is life changing.

Moms And Mentors: Once families complete our services, this program meets throughout the year to bring parents and mentors together for support, learning and encouragement as they continue working with their children's specific learning needs.

This Is Why We Do It.

Stories like those below are why we do what we do. These are lives changed because someone cared enough to help. With your help, we can do even more through our new Development Center.

“Our son is the light of our life, and when his teachers approached us about getting him help with gross/fine motor skills, along with courage and self-esteem help, we were lost. With the help of Building All Children we gained hope, confidence, and the light back into our son’s face and future! Our income did not allow us to receive free help and the help we were actively seeking was too expensive for us to even try to obtain. Building All Children relieved the pressure and fears of not being able to obtain quality testing and quality guidance for our son! Kendra has been a counselor, a friend, a guide, and a teacher. Building All Children is a gift and their ability to reach children and nurture their strengths has propelled our son to new heights! I cannot express enough gratitude for the gift of confidence I gained as a parent, and I am speechless towards the growth my son is achieving! Thank you, Building All Children, from the bottom of my heart!”

—Thankful Mom

“Kendra spoke to our Sunday school class about the resources Building All Children provides and my husband and I left class that day, both knowing we had to learn more about how she could help our son. James struggled with fine motor skills and is very tall for his age, appearing older than his actual age. He’s often expected to act older than his age because of his tall stature, but he didn’t have the confidence to deal with social cues and struggled with certain social triggers. We met with Kendra and she walked me through our son’s triggers and recognized James’s gifts and abilities as well. She equipped us with tools that helped better his fine motor skills to the point that the problems were eliminated. We were so relieved by the positive transition that happened once his gifts were fine tuned. There was an instant switch in his behavior and confidence, and his teachers noticed an immediate difference in James’s confidence and success in school. Building All Children made me feel encouraged as a mother, and like I had an army of help behind us. It made a huge difference not only in James’s life, but in my life and marriage, and we’re excited to see how James will use his gentle, kind, sweet spirit to change the world.”

—James Henry’s family

"I attended the Building All Children benefit dinner several years ago with a friend and was moved by Kendra's testimony and the mission of Building All Children. I realized I could find help for my son Carter so I set up an assessment. Early on in his life, we heard Carter described as a "late bloomer" and were told that he was "just fine." As time passed, school became so challenging that his standardized writing tests were hardly passable. His school wasn't offering the option for independent testing, but I wasn't even aware he needed it. I just didn't know what questions to ask to get Carter the help he needed most. Building All Children gave us the right avenue to find appropriate testing for him and our son was diagnosed with Dyslexia and Dysgraphia. We were relieved to have a diagnosis and could then move forward with a plan. Building All Children was able to assist the school in setting up an IEP specific to Carter and it was then that I finally learned, and now know, what questions to ask teachers and specialists so that our son thrives. Simply knowing who and what to ask has led to so many resources that have, in time, helped Carter to raise his standardized writing test scores to a near perfect level. We're so grateful to Building All Children for setting us on the path to success!"

"I was teaching at Asbury Preschool when Kendra came to give us a presentation about Building All Children. Several months later, my son's Pre-K teachers shared with me some concerns they had about his inability to cope with transition and change. Aside from school, I had taken him to a ball class set to music and found that, even in a familiar environment with familiar faces, he struggled to re-grip emotionally. With any change or disappointment, he would meltdown and couldn't stop when other kids did. I knew the red flags of sensitivity, but he didn't fit the stereotypical mold that I was familiar with. I remembered Kendra's presentation and just knew that Building All Children could help me not only as a teacher, but as a mother. My son was assessed, and Kendra confirmed that appropriate socialization and sensitivities to sound were indeed concerns. She referred us to O.T. where my son has gained helpful skills through an Integration Listening System and Emotional ABC's. Before Building All Children and O.T., I didn't have the tools my son needed, and my own set of tools didn't work for him. I just needed guidance and direction. Once I received it, my son gained the tools he needs to cope well and be successful."

“Kendra spoke to a “Moms of Multiples” group I’m involved with, and several friends recommended Building All Children. My son has sensory processing disorder, so he has trouble focusing and is easily frustrated by, and sometimes even incapable of, following tasks. He was having trouble in school and I didn’t know exactly how to help him learn while dealing with intense anxiety. Building All Children helped him learn coping mechanisms and tools to cope with stress. He soon learned how to decompress and accomplish classwork. Kendra was able to direct us into the medical world where we received helpful resources like Occupational Therapy. “My son is super bright and is learning to cope positively now that Building All Children provided him with the needed tools and skills.”

“My son attended ABC Preschool and experienced behavioral issues in class. I noticed he was struggling and didn’t seem to fit in. Before he began school there, Kendra with Building All Children had done a routine school screening of our son and noted that he may have some auditory sensitivities. Once the behavioral issues in school were brought to my attention, I thought back on the screening results and decided to pursue Building All Children’s help. Kendra observed our son in class and we later met and talked about recommendations. Because of the recommendations I received through Building All Children, we were led to a Child Psychologist and an Occupational Therapist who have both helped our son learn to thrive in a new school environment. Thanks to Building All Children, I now know who to ask for help and what to ask to empower my son’s strengths and encourage his good behavior.”

Building Readers. Changing Lives.

Jack knew that he couldn't keep up with the class and he also new that the other children knew he couldn't read. Every night I would read to Jack, and he just wasn't getting it. We had the schools working with him but every reading test he scored lower and lower, and we saw his confidence going lower and lower. We had no idea what to do. We heard about Building All Children and that they had a Building Reading program. We went through the assessment process and received the results that he was at a First-grade level but needed to be at a third-grade level. Jack worked one on one with a Reading Specialist two times a week and we had specific homework that was at his level. Building Readers, not only taught my son the basic skills of reading, but they also helped BUILD his confidence and with much hard work, Building Readers guidance and support my son is currently on grade level. When I walk into the room, and he is sitting on the sofa reading a book it makes this mama's heart happy! We couldn't have done it without Building All Children and their Building Readers Program! Thank you to the monthly donors that paid for my son to go through this program...it was life changing!

Forever Grateful,

—The mom of a GOOD READER!

Frequently Asked Questions.

Q: Why is BAC raising money?

---

A: BAC has outgrown our current space. In order to service more families, we need more room and more resources. Asbury United Methodist Church has generously provided a building with space for several non-profit organizations, including ours. We are raising money to finish out and furnish our portion of that space.

Q: How much is BAC hoping to raise during this capital campaign?

A: Our total goal is to raise $250,500 to provide signage, furnishings, supplies and more to make our space family ready!

Q: How can I contribute to the BAC capital campaign?

A: We are asking organizations, companies, and individuals to sponsor a room or area. These opportunities range from $40,650 to just over $2,600. There is also a need for funding of our exterior signage. If you would like to explore a different way to support our capital campaign, we would be happy to discuss it!

Q: Does the move change BAC's area of service?

A: No! We believe every child needs developmental resources and every family needs support. Everyone qualifies. Regardless of the child's level of disability. Regardless of the family's financial situation. And regardless of where in the community they live.

Q: Is BAC a for-profit organization?

A: No. Building All Children, Inc. is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization whose mission is to assess, resource, and empower children and their families to build each child's development and individual learning style.

Q: Can I trust BAC with my money?

A: Absolutely! BAC takes our responsibility of being good stewards with the funds entrusted to us very seriously. We have earned the 2021 Platinum Seal of Transparency from Guidestar.

Building All Children is committed to maintaining the highest level of integrity and a commitment to excellence in personal service, moral and ethical standards, virtuous character, and financial transparency.
